

All links in the website that lead to pages not yet implemented show a tooltip when hovered. All other links should work properly, so if there's need for extra navigation (outside the provided user scenarios) feel free to use them.